

The Perfect Framework for Small-Group,
Differentiated Instruction

Folded Spectrum

- Participants line up, in a value line, according to how comfortable they are with the topic.
- Participants talk to the people next to them and share why they chose that location.
- The leader finds the midpoint of the line and “folds” the line by having the back half step forward and walk to the front of the line.
- Each person practices active listening sharing the “starter” with the partner whom they are facing.
